

POSTDOCTORAL FELLOWSHIP POSITION OPENING for August 2024

Disability Resources and Educational Services (DRES) at the University of Illinois, Urbana-Champaign is now accepting applications for postdoctoral fellows.

DRES provides services and accommodations to approximately 4500 undergraduate and graduate students with documented visible and non-visible disabilities. DRES began providing services to students with disabilities in 1948 and was the first post-secondary institution in the world to provide such accommodations. Currently, DRES continues to uphold the long-standing tradition of excellence in providing equal access to students with all types of disabilities. More information about DRES is available at www.dres.illinois.edu.

DRES is unique as a university disabilities service office in that it offers a range of mental health services to registered students. The DRES mental health team is multi-disciplinary and includes licensed clinical psychologists, school psychologists, social workers, professional counselors, doctoral-level psychology practicum students, counseling practicum students, pre-doctoral school psychology interns, and MSW interns. The team meets weekly for group supervision.

This is a one- or two-year post-doctoral position with the opportunity to:

- Provide individual psychotherapy
- Lead or co-lead group therapy
- Assess college students for ADHD, learning disabilities, autism spectrum disorder, and/or other mental health conditions
- Gain experience with intersectional identities in college-aged persons
- Write psychological reports and make recommendations regarding academic accommodations
- Supervise graduate students in clinical and counseling psychology
